Papua New Guinea: Fuel rationing measures to occur nationwide from 23:59 Jan. 25

Fuel rationing measures to occur across Papua New Guinea from 23:59 Jan. 25. Business and transport disruptions, and protests are possible.

PUMA Energy will restrict the distribution of fuel across Papua New Guinea from 23:59 Jan. 25, prompted by a local bank's withdrawal of services for the company and difficulties in accessing foreign currency. PUMA Energy did not specify a timeframe for lifting the rationing measures.

Fuel rationing measures may affect business operations, public and private transport services, and ground shipping. Long lines are possible at petrol stations with fuel, especially if additional fuel rationing measures or shortages occur. Flight cancellations and delays may also occur if jet fuel supplies are affected in the coming weeks; Air Niugini (PX) and PNG Air (CG) have previously canceled services due to fuel supply issues.

Locals may protest outside government offices or fuel stations to denounce the rationing measures. Police will likely monitor any protests that materialize and attempt to disperse demonstrators if they become disruptive. Clashes between protesters and security personnel are possible.
